GEORGE CLIFT DIES FROM HIS WOUNDS

Two of the Bullets Penetrated His Lungs.

CAUSE OF THE SUICIDE

REITERATED STATEMENT THAT HE WAS DERANGED.

George L. Clift, the dancing instructor, succumbed yesterday noon to the wounds inflicted by his own hand while in a fit of mental derangement the night previous. He died in a spasm of agony at the Holy Cross hospital, his brother Aifred being the only member of the family at the death-bed. Although the doctors at first were hopeful that he would pull through, the death of Mr. Clift was not unexpected after 8 o'clock vesterday morning. Until 11 a. m. the entire family was at his bedside. At that hour Dr. Mayo advised Mrs. Clift to retire to her home and try to rest, his opinion being that the dying man would survive the day at least. Acting on this advice, she re-tired from the hospital and one hour later received the distressing news of ner husband's death.

It appears from the statement of Dr. Mayo that a heavy internal hemorrhage caused Mr. Clift's death, both of the bullets he fired into his body having penetrated the lungs. While men have often lived after being shot through the lungs, and with small-sized cartridges, this case was a sad exception. The persistence of the deranged man in bringing about self-destruction defied all efforts of the physicians.

Clift Was Deranged.

Clift was Deranged.

Clift made no further statement regarding the cause of his rash act \cept to reaffirm to his brother-in-law, Del Wilson, that he was out of his head and did not know what he was doing, this being the result of a long siege of la gripple. He was conscious until the spasm seized his, one minute before life became extinct, and during the night he suffered intense pain. The widow refused to leave the bedside all right, and is about prostrated over the right, and is about prostrated over the night, and is about prostrated over the outcome of the tragic occurrence.

The dead man was the son of Alfred Clift, who for many years was a teamster for Jesse Little. He was born in Salt Lake Oct. 31, 1882, making him 35 years and 4 months old. For a number of years past he has conducted the Clift dancing academy on Market street and in that capacity was known to a large portion of the population of Salt Lake. His wife, whose maiden name was Manning, also has hosts of friends who sympathize with her in her terrible bereavement.

The body was taken to Joseph William 'Taylor's undertaking parlors and the funeral will occur from the residence of Del Wilson, 651 Fast Second South street, at 2 o'clock Tuesday. Friends are respectfully invited.

Joseph Lippman Returns From the Oil Fields.

Joseph Lippmann, the successful manager of Taomas Kearns' senatorial campaign, dropped back into town yesterday afternoon. His coming was unheralded and as soon as the "boys" learn that the manager and the senator have really had no disagreement and that he still stands close to the Kearns push he will be greeted as the lion of the hour, pending the return of the senator himself in a couple of weeks. In the great amount of legislation chronicled by the daily papers the public has almost lost sight of the measure introduced in the house by D. H. The proposition has among its supporters some of the most prominent business men of the city, but that there is a big opposition is well known. The railroad people made the statement originally that no work would be done until the city council had agreed to donate the square. A all the difference in the world to the Clark people.

The bill, as originally drawn and passed by the house, gave cities the right to encourage the building of railroads by donating to railroad companies property not required for municipal purposes. The bill went to the senate, and that body attached an amendment which requires the city council to submit the proposition to a vote of the people at the next regular election, and only by their concurrence can the land be donated. # SALT LAKE WOMAN BACK FROM DAWSON

Mrs. Harry Edwards Made a Quick Trip.

Fine Entertainment Given by the 500 MILES BY SLEDGE

The feather social of the Fraternal Order of Eagles last night at Castle hall MANY SALT LAKERS ARE MAK-ING FORTUNES.

> Making the trip out from Dawson City to White Horse, the terminus of the Alaskan railroad, a distance of 500 miles, in six days, is the novel experience of Mrs. Harry Edwards, who arrived in the city last evening on business and to visit her mother's family at 24 West Fourth South street. Mrs. Edwards left Dawson on Feb. 27, when the mercury was 39 degrees below zero, and arrived at Seattle in fifteen days. a mail sleigh drawn by swift traveling horses, three relays daily, over moun-tains, across valleys, through tall timber, over a real glacier and under the glare of moonlight with a folly company of ladies and gentlemen, as the very best sleigh ride she had ever taken. The trip could have been made nearly as son by taking the all night nearly as soon by taking the all-night stage, but the journey was made more comfortable by stopping at nightfalt at the stations, where splendid accommodations were found.

Hard Winter in Dawson.

Mrs. Edwards reports that this has been a hard winter in the Klondike region. The temperature often went as low as 75 degrees below zero, and in many of the thermometers the mercury fell to 90 and then "went out." But this lady traveler enjoyed every day of winter life in the northern metropolis and looks the picture of health. She never suffered from the cold. There She never suffered from the coid. There has been more snow in Aleska than in any winter before within the memory of the gold seekers. On White pass the snow piled up to a level with the car roofs and rotary plows and big gangs of men were kept busy clearing the track.

The immense fall of snow will be a there will be an enormous lot of gold mining, since it has been demonstrated that it is less expensive to work the auriferous sands, Mrs. Edwards says, than in winter. The winter clean-up will, nowever, be the biggest yet. Business has been rather quiet in Dawson during the winter, but the outlook for a busy season is most assuring. The production of gold, Mrs. Edwards reports, will smely be vastly

Mr. Edwards has some locations on Copper river that he made when he went into Dawson overland with horses and blazed a trail that had never before been trod by a white men. Mrs. Edwards feels sure that the country around Nome and Bluestone will have a boom in the spring.

Mrs. Edwards, is the demonstration that quartz mining pays big, and large quantities of heavy machinery to develop these new finds is going in at a lively rate. Soon there will be more quartz mining than placer.

An interesting fact related by Mrs. Edwards is that neafy all the dogs which have been used to draw sleds are going mad from the rables. They are so dangerous that the faithful old brutes must be killed as soon as they are attacked with the malady.

The Salt Lakers in and around Dawson are doing well and some of them are piling up fortunes. Mr. Edwards is prospering. Johnny Bechtol is making big money. Captain Donovan is getting rich from his claim, on which he is taking out sixty buckets daily, Ronald Morrison is credited with having the richest mine near Dawson, and Tom Lloyd is superintendent of the property which has the largest number of men etaployed.

Mrs. Edwards expects to return to Dawson in June, but she will travely Dawson in June, but she will trave, by way of Yukon river. A finer line of steamers is assured for the large travel that way this summer.

BANK WRECKER IS CAUGHT IN OHIO

Columbus, O., March 17.—Charles Johnson, cashier of the Western National bank of Niles, Mich., was arrested here today on the charge of wrecking that institution. He was placed in the Emergency hospital at the police station, because of his physical condition. He is badly broken in health, much emaciated and very nervous. He expressed a willingness to return to Michigan at once.

Johnson is said to have come to Columbus immediately after leaving Niles, about two weeks ago, when the investigation of the bank's affairs was begun.

Shortly after his arrival here Johnson wrote to a friend in Niles requesting that he send him a number of articles and instructing him to address them in care of J. B. Elliott, the alias which he assumed upon his arrival here. His friend gave the letter to Thomas A. Porter, a secret service officer, and Mr. Porter came to this city this morning. He enlisted the services of Detective Fogster and together they sent Johnson a decoy letter signed with his friend's name. The letter asked Johnson to meet his friends in West Goodale street and receive the articles for which he had written. Johnson tell into the trap.

Johnson was greatly surprised when he thus fell into the hands of the officers, but
